Projects

Identification fake indian currency

Jan 2023 - May 2023

MGM College Of Engineering Nanded

Addressed the critical issue of identifying fake Indian currency through a project focused on utilizing the

Convolutional Neural Network (CNN) algorithm

- Developed a highly effective model that classifies whether a given Indian currency note is real or fake based on provided images. Successfully achieved the objective by implementing various stages of development, including data pre- processing, model architecture design, training, and evaluation.
